COVID-19 (CORONAVIRUS) UPDATE

Dear Valued Clients,

Many states and territories have started to ease restrictions around gatherings, local travel and non-essential travel. This has been possible because most of the Australian community has observed strict stay-at-home and social distancing measures and the number of new Covid-19 cases in Australia has dropped dramatically. Restrictions will continue to be eased unless there is a sharp increase in the number of cases.

COVIDSafe App

To help prevent future outbreaks, the Australian Government is encouraging everyone in Australia to download the COVIDSafe App to their smartphones. If enough people download this app, it will mean our public health authorities can quickly find and contain new cases of coronavirus.

Get the app

Agri Labour Australia is strongly encouraging all our people to download the COVIDSafe App. We believe this will save lives and help protect all of us.

Workers with Flu Symptoms

Most years as we approach winter, there is an increase in the number of people with the cold or influenza. We expect the same will happen this year, but due to coronavirus our response needs to be very different. Candidates who experience fever, coughing, sore throat, fatigue or shortness of breath; must be directed to go straight home, self-isolate and seek medical advice. Anyone presenting to work with these symptoms must be sent home immediately.

In these cases, Agri Labour Australia will contact you to discuss when our workers who have had flu symptoms will be allowed back to work. In most cases we would suggest after one of the following:

1. 14-days have passed since the person had any symptoms, or
2. The person no longer has symptoms and they can provide a medical clearance confirming the person does not have Covid-19.
